Industry Challenges

Low Level of Trust

It is increasingly difficult for new projects to gain a high level of trust from users, especially in the crypto industry.

Low Level of Product Knowledge

Continuous development and improvement of a product makes no sense if users are unaware of its existence or functionality.

Absence of Personal Relationship

Projects are increasingly complex — this affects direct communication with the audience, resulting in user churn.

Monetization Issues

Finding ways to monetize can be a challenge for many content creators and projects.

Outdated Communication Channels

Most users prefer to watch or listen to information about new products rather than read it.

Narrow Range of Services

Providing a cryptocurrency exchange is no longer enough — consumers seek additional value besides buying/selling assets.
